AR WING EDUCATION & TRAINING NEWSLETTER

March 2023 Issue

From the Editor: At the wing conference the Education Training department will have a block to help the squadron ETOs. This is to help squadron ETOs and Commanders get a better understanding of the Education Training program. Lt Col Webster and 2d Lt Howard. Look forward to seeing you there.

Education & Training Awards

This is to recognize individuals for ET awards (specialty track completion, any senior member level). Commanders, send me an email so individuals from your unit can be recognized wing wide. Commanders, present the awards at one of your meetings. Create a certificate to present ET awards. Cadets are recognized for their achievements, so recognize your seniors.

Congratulations to those individuals on completing Education and Training Program levels.

Great work, keep going on to the next level. Commanders, please keep sending in information on any ET completion of your members so they can be recognized in this newsletter.

Become a Volunteer University Instructor

AR Wing is looking to increase the number of approved Volunteer University Instructors. Having at least one instructor in each unit is important to assist members through the Education and Training Program. This can be any member, not just the Education and Training Officer. To apply click on Become a Volunteer University Instructor to go to the Volunteer University webpage to get started. Do a resume before completing the application as it will need to be uploaded. Complete the application and after the application is approved, you will be enrolled in the VolU Instructor Course in AXIS. After completing the online portion, you will sign up to participate in a Summary Conversation session to be a fully qualified instructor or assistant instructor. A qualified VolU instructor can instruct the Levels that they have completed. A benefit to the squadron is that members needing to complete modules (including Level I) can receive small group or one-on-one instruction.

If you have any questions about this newsletter or the Education and Training program, send an email to Lt Col Webster at lwebster@cap.gov
